Greetings, on behalf of the men and women of the Xavier University Police Department (XUPD), it is my honor to welcome you to the beautiful campus of Xavier University of Louisiana, a Historically Black Catholic University.

XUPD Police Department officers, dispatchers, and civilian staff work towards the university's common goal: to contribute to the promotion of a more just and humane society by preparing its students to assume roles of leadership and service in a global society.

XUPD is a full service police department that provides services 24/7, 365 days of the year. We are committed to building trust and legitimacy, facilitating and maintaining an accessible, diverse, and inclusive environment. XUPD takes pride in its responsibility to render the utmost professional level of law enforcement services based upon an ethical decision-making process on every call for service.

Safety at XULA is everyone's responsibility. The university offers the XULA free mobile safety app which provides a plethora of information at your fingertips relating to emergencies. You can use it to send us crime tips, or report anything suspicious, by texting or sending videos, photos and audio messages.

We want to assure our community that XULA Police officers take all threats and reports of violence very seriously. Students, faculty and staff are encouraged to notify us at any time should they feel their personal safety, or the university, is at risk.

We invite you to give us your feedback on the services we render and on how we can continue to improve the service that you deserve.

Respectfully,

C. Durall

AVP of Campus Safety
Chief of University Police
