Launch promotion for a limited time only.

Mileage prices may vary depending on the flight date

General Conditions:

Promotion valid exclusively for AAdvantage® miles redemption for tickets on JetSMART domestic and international routes. Limited availability, subject to capacity and availability per flight.

The number of miles required to redeem a ticket may vary depending on various factors, including: selected route, available fare class (e.g., fare V), how far in advance the reservation is made, flight demand, and other market operational conditions. JetSMART and American Airlines may modify the redemption values at any time without prior notice, subject to availability and in accordance with the AAdvantage® program conditions.

The mile value indicated for each route corresponds to redemption per person and per flight segment, and applies only to the base fare in economy class. This value does not include taxes, airport fees, issuance charges, or any additional services such as seat selection, priority boarding, additional luggage, among others. All these additional items are the sole responsibility of the passenger and must be paid using the available payment methods at the time of purchase.

Tickets issued through AAdvantage® miles redemption are non-refundable and non-returnable, unless the flight is canceled or modified by JetSMART, and the passenger opts to request a full redemption refund. In such case, the passenger may process the return of the miles and the amount paid by card as appropriate. Times and conditions for this procedure will be informed by JetSMART at the time of contact with the affected passenger.

Changes, refunds, and redemption conditions:

Travel Light fares do not allow changes or refunds, unless the additional Flexi SMART product is purchased. Pack SMART, Pack FULL, or fares with Flexi SMART allow changes following the process available at JetSMART.com. If the card payment associated with the redemption fails, the reservation will be held for 15 minutes. After that time without a valid payment, it will be automatically canceled, and the miles will be returned to the account holder. In case of cancellation or itinerary change by JetSMART, the passenger may choose between a miles and payment refund, or a date change at no additional cost.

Additional Information:

Redemption can be made for third parties, even if the AAdvantage® account holder is not traveling. If the passenger does not have enough miles to complete the purchase, they may:

- Modify the search criteria, selecting alternative dates or times that require fewer miles.
- Choose another payment method to directly purchase the ticket without using miles, via credit card or other methods enabled on JetSMART.com.
- Purchase additional miles through the official AAdvantage® program portal, available at www.aa.com, in order to complete the necessary balance for the transaction.

All transactions are subject to the Terms and Conditions of the AAdvantage® program, available at: www.aa.com/aadvantage. To participate in this promotion and redeem miles, it is mandatory to be enrolled in the American Airlines AAdvantage® program. Redemption can only be made through an active and valid account in the program. If you are not yet enrolled, you can do so at no cost at www.aa.com/aadvantage.
